

MONTE VELHO

WHITE 2016

Regional Alentejano

Concept: With a distinctly Alentejo profile, this wine aims to transmit the uniqueness of the Alentejo and the quality of Herdade do Esporão wines to more people. Balanced and gastronomic, it is an excellent choice for a variety of occasions and consumers.

Harvest Year: Spring had lower temperatures and higher humidity than in previous years – ideal climatic conditions for fungal diseases in the vines, implying increased care to avoid mildew attacks. The cooler temperatures at this time of year provided a longer period of vegetative growth and, despite the heat felt since July, the beginning of the harvest took place about 10 days later than usual. The hot weather continued throughout the harvest, fruit condition was excellent. Despite the heat, sugar levels were normal and acidities a little lower than normal.

Viticulture:

Soil Type: Schist/granite origin with clay loam soils.

Average age of vines: 16 years old

Grape varieties: Antão Vaz, Roupeiro, Perrum

Vinification: Destemmed, must chilled, membrane pressing, cold settling, temperature controlled fermentation in stainless steel tanks, centrifuging, cold stabilization, membrane filtration prior to bottling.

Bottling: From January 2017
